ARE YOU AN ORE FINDER?

Sydney-based Exploration Geologists

Malachite Resources NL is an active explorer with advanced gold, silver-rich base metal and copper projects in northern NSW and NW Queensland. We are seeking two highly motivated geologists to join our Sydney-based exploration team and help us make the transition from successful explorer to emerging miner.

The Senior Exploration Geologist will have responsibility for our exciting Conrad Silver Project, near Inverell in northern NSW, where a resource drilling program is in progress. A minimum of 10 years relevant exploration experience is required, including supervision of advanced projects and management of RCP and diamond drilling.

The Exploration Geologist will work on target definition and drilling programs at Conrad, at our promising IOCG copper project near Mt Isa and at our key gold target at Tooloom in northern NSW. Four years prior exploration experience is desirable but not essential for this position.

Both positions require a Geology graduate, preferably with Honours or a higher degree. Strong computer skills and an enthusiastic attitude towards field work are essential, together with a clear commitment to teamwork and a strong desire to find new ore bodies.

Malachite is a growing company which provides excellent professional and career development opportunities. A generous remuneration package will be offered for these positions and the successful candidates will be eligible to participate in our Employee Option Plan.
