DISCLAIMER

The Organising Committee sought to obtain a broad coverage of this topic. Every effort was made to minimise amendments in content of the resultant papers, which were all sent to the authors for checking. Hence, opinions and statements within the individual papers comprising this Bulletin reflect solely the viewpoint of their authors, and are not necessarily shared by the Organising Committee or the Australian Institute of Geoscientists.

Short quotations from the text of this publication and copies of maps, figures, tables, etc (excluding any subject to pre-existing copyright) may be used in scientific articles, exploration reports and similar works provided that the source is acknowledged and subject to the proviso that any excerpt used, especially in a company prospectus, Stock Exchange report or similar, must be strictly fair and balanced. Other than for the purposes of research or study the whole work must not be reproduced without the permission in writing of the Australian Institute of Geoscientists.
