

The Geological Survey of New South Wales sesquicentenary: a champagne year of achievement, change and growth.

Dr Phil Blevin will talk about the key outputs and achievements of the Geological Survey in 2025, our 150th anniversary year, including major changes in our core libraries and collections, geophysical acquisition, geological investigations in the Rockley Gulgong Belt, palaeontology, significant data releases, progress in our stratigraphic unit table program, and mineral commodity assessments.
